

HR Bartender Privacy Statement

HR Bartender appreciates your readership and wants you to have a positive experience being a part of the community. But we all know every community needs a few guidelines, so here they are.

Your Information

HR Bartender truly values our readers and partners - you guys are awesome! We will not sell email addresses, Twitter handles, etc. Period. We also don't automatically add you to our other lists. I hate it when companies create schemes to get my email, so I'm not doing it to someone else.

Unfortunately, this doesn't stop others with sophisticated equipment from pulling information off the web. Sorry, but there's not much I can do about it. Rest assured, the HR Bartender database is secure and it's a priority with me to keep it that way.

Inappropriate Comments

Any comment I deem to be inappropriate or offensive will be taken down. I completely respect the First Amendment but . . . it's my blog so that's the rule. And, you probably already know this, but any comments placed on the blog are fair game for search engines. Please don't blame me if something you wrote on the blog shows up on Google or Bing or Yahoo! That's how search engines work and, as much as I'd like to, I honestly don't control them.

I also totally believe in entrepreneurship and self-marketing. So I'm cool with a little salesmanship and self-promotion, but please remember it shouldn't be your primary objective. It's sharing your knowledge and experience.

Contacting HR Bartender

If you ever want to contact me, the best way is via the online form or by email at cheers@hrbartender.com. I'll answer other ways, but this is the best.

Asking Questions

I love getting questions so please feel free. Depending upon the question, I might answer it personally or answer it via the blog, Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, etc. Oh, and as much as I would like to answer every question right away, I simply can't. So please be patient and I promise to respond as quickly as possible – unless you send me stuff about SEO, affiliate programs or other spam I didn't request. That will probably be deleted.

Press Releases

You are more than welcome to send me announcements and stuff. Sending me something does not guarantee I will write about it. That being said, a couple of things are certain: if you send me a generic press release using multiple font styles and sizes, I will definitely not respond or write about it.

Changes

Please note these guidelines are subject to change. Any changes will be posted here for your review. Thanks again for visiting HR Bartender! Cheers.